

"Just that he fancies you. But that he's respectful of me being his mate and liking you! Erm, you are still single, aren't you...? Lol!"

I want to ask her to town. But that would seem like I'm in some kind of male competition.

I'll just ask a question I know the answer to that will lead on to it!

"Nt currently lol"

OVERLOAD

Eh? Maybe I wrote that question wrong...

"Not currently what?"

I'd better clarify!

"Nt currently single"

I MUST act normal here.

"Since when? And who is the lucky one? And why didn't you tell me?"

! Learned questions

"a few weeks lucky guy is * and it n't somit u just pop in a convo"

Happy for her!

It's not. But it's a shock more than anything!

Hang on, I'm a good mate...

"Well, I dunno. I thought me and  were good mates, and you didn't think we might wanna know? Lol. It's times like this I can't even describe my emotions! Please read my blog, the second latest entry. There is something you should seriously know. Please!"

Wanting to cry

? All known strategies fail!

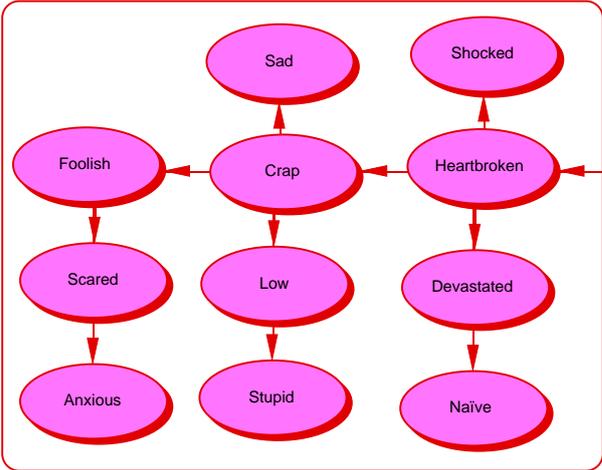

? Attempt at helping myself.

She's gonna freak out when she reads that!

I rang and spoke to her so I could explain that my emotions and feelings have nothing to do with her, and are my responsibility. I told her I asked her to read the blog to explain why I wouldn't be my normal self tomorrow. She just said "You've got to be, I can't be happy and hyper on my own!".

! Clarification of responsibilities

"Aww matt i dnt"

SHOCKED

Happy

Smiley & laughing

